The Ross-Alger Failure.

Thursday's Journal said: "Due to losses sustained in connection with the grain market, the well-known Edmonton firm of W. Ross Alger & Co. Ltd., have gone into voluntary liquidation and the affairs of the company are now in the hands of the Traders' Trust Company as receiver."

"The losses sustained are stated to be fairly heavy. A financial statement is now being prepared, and as soon as ready will be given to the public."

"Despite the losses in the grain department, the company has been carrying on, hoping that the general profits would cover the loss in the grain department; but, with the depressing feature of the money market during the summer and fall, they found they could not continue with their capital so greatly impaired from the losses sustained."

So far as known, the only local farmers interested are two at Comet and one at Mewassin.

"You don't say? Well, see and make him coo a through with the expenses. If I was travelling for Jack Hiram I wouldn't be sleeping in a hen-coop like this. He's worth yards of money, ain't he?"

"Oh, some, I guess, but perhaps not so much more'n his neighbours." "Nothing personal, Riles. You've got to get over that narrowness if you're going to get into the bigger game. I've been telling you about, don't care how much you're worth—how much is Jarriss bringing with him?"

"Couple of hundred dollars, likely." "I wouldn't show my hand for that. How much can he raise for the lot?"

"Well, suppose," he said, the old farm—

"Now don't do any reckless supposing. Will he sell the farm?"

"Sure, he'll sell it if he sees something better."

"How much can he get for it?"

"Thirty or forty thousand dollars." "That's more like a stake. Hiram, it's up to you and me to show him something better—and to show it to him when he's alone. You're tired tonight. Sleep it out. You'll drive over to the ranch to-morrow together. We ought to pick something better than a homestead out of this."

CHAPTER XIII. Setting the Trap

Notwithstanding the exhaustion occasioned by his journey Riles was early about. The hotel bed was strange to him, and the noises that

Backache

Backache is the outstanding symptom of kidney disease. Women often make the mistake of attributing other causes and overlook the derangement of the kidneys until serious developments have made it difficult to obtain permanent relief.

This letter points to a treatment which has been so thoroughly tried and proven so effective in the great majority of cases that you cannot afford to overlook it when cause arises for its use.

Mrs. Albert Brunet, R.R. No. 1, Ottawa, Ont., writes:

"I have used Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills for the past two months, having been afflicted with kidney trouble. I used two doctors' medicines previous to this, without any good results. A friend told me to use Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and the second box made me feel a good deal better. I have now used about six or eight boxes, and am completely relieved."

doated up from the bar-room interrupted his slumbers. At least, he told himself it was the noise, but the fact is a great new thought had been sown in his brain, and had the cells whirling in dizzy speculation. The unexpected meeting with Gardiner, the latter's evident prosperity, and his frank contempt for men who made their living by labour, had left a deep impression upon Riles. He had no idea by what means Gardiner proposed that they should possess themselves of Harris' money, and he felt some doubt about any such attempt being rewarded with success. Nevertheless, Gardiner seemed to think the matter a simple one enough, and Gardiner's good clothes and good cigars were evidence of his ability to carry his plans into effect.

The streets had not yet assumed their morning activity when Riles emerged from the hotel, but the unclouded Alberta sunshine was bathing every atom of out-of-doors in a warmth and brilliance that might have found, and in very truth did find, a keen response in the inanimate objects of its affection. The jubilant laughing of running mountain water rippled through the quiet air, fragrant with the perfume of bluish-green balsam; to the eastward the sunshine poured into broad valleys and undulating, sweeping plain, and in the west the great mountains, clad in their eternal robes of white, loomed silent and impressive in their majesty. Even Riles stopped to look at them, and they stirred in him an emotion that not altogether profane—a faint, undefined consciousness of the paleness of man and the night of his life. No one can live for long in the presence of the mountains without that consciousness, and it is a great force for the mountain-dweller when he learns to distinguish between the paleness of man, the nothingness and the infinity of man, the thinking soul.

Riles breakfasted as soon as the dining-room was opened, eating his meal hurriedly, as he always did, and he was unaccustomed, could be potted on his knife only with considerable effort. Then he sat down, in an arm-chair on the shady side of the hotel to wait for Gardiner. He had suddenly lost his interest in the race horse which had been the purpose of his journey.

His wait was longer than he had expected, and he broke it several times by strolls about the little town. In size it was much the same as Plainville, but that was the chief point of resemblance. True, it had its typical stores selling everything from silk to coal oil; its blacksmith's shops, ringing with the hammer of the horse smith on ploughshare or horseshoe; its implement agencies, with rows of brightly-painted mowers and binders obstructing the thoroughfare, and the hempen snarl of new binder twine trailing from the roof-recesses of their iron-covered storehouses; a couple of barns, occupying the best corners, and barber shops and pool-rooms in apparent excess of the needs of the population. All these he might have found in Plainville, but there were here in addition half-a-dozen real estate dealers, brokers, commission-splitters and go-betweens, and the number and size of the lively stables gave some clue to the amount of prospecting going on from his house of supplies. The streets were lined with traffic. Riles estimated that two hours as many teams passed him as might be seen in Plainville in a week; long rows of boxes were unloading on the side tracks; farmers' effects and household goods of every description were piled in great heaps about the railway yards; while horses, cattle, pigs and poultry contributed to the dust and din of the retailers' operations. Great wagons of lumber were being loaded at the lumber yards, and an unbroken procession of wagons and farm machinery of every description was wending its way slowly into the distance where lay hope of home or fortune for the new settler.

It was almost noon when Gardiner appeared on the scene. "You don't hurt yourself in the morning," was Riles' greeting.

"Don't need to," he answered cheerily. "Besides, I'd a long session after I left you last night. No, no particulars at present. I told you you had spoiled your hands for that kind of work. How d'ye like this?" Isn't that something worth breathing?"

"Good enough," said Riles, "but I didn't come out here for air."

"No, you came for land. I'm surprised you're not out bounding over the prairie in a backwood long before this."

Riles shot a quick glance at Gardiner. But he was puffing a cigar and drinking in the warm sunshine with obvious satisfaction.

"So I might 've been, but I thought we'd made a date last night, didn't we?"

"Did we? Oh, yes; now I remember. But I thought perhaps you'd feel different about it in the morning. A man generally does. I don't hold you to anything you said last night, Riles."

Riles could not recall that he had said anything that committed him in any way, but Gardiner's tone implied that plainly enough.

"I ain't changed my mind," he said, "but I don't know I said anything binding, did I? I thought we was going to do it 't' your place 't'-day on 'talk things over."

"Well, I just didn't want you to lose any time over it if you thought things wouldn't work out," said Gardiner. "It takes more nerve, you know, than beating potatoes. But you're welcome to the hospitality of the ranch, in any case. I came in on horseback, so we'll get a team at one of the stables and drive out."

In a short time they were on their way. The road skirted the river, threading its way through the narrow belt of cotton-woods and evergreens of the valley. Here and there, in a faint purple, silently receding before them, a soft breeze, neither hot nor cold, but moist and fresh from the great west, wafted the scents of the travellers, but their thoughts were of neither the scenery nor the weather.

"It's all right, Riles," Gardiner was saying. "If you're prepared to attack it, you can pull it through—no doubt about that. That is, if I Harris will sell his farm and come out here with the cash in his jeans. If he won't do that, you better get busy on your homestead proposition right away."

"He'll do it all right; if he sees something worth while. But Harris's no spring chicken, an' you'll have to show him something 't' his likin' before he loosens up."

"I don't care whether he loosens up or not," said Gardiner. "All I care is that he brings the money, and brings it in his old muckin' bag. You get him out here with the cash on him, and I'll do the loosening up. It comes to that."

Riles was somewhat alarmed at the sinister turn of the conversation. He had no conception about getting the better of his old neighbour, the man who had entrusted him with the discharge of their joint commission, but he had considerable respect for the force, if not the principle, of the law. "You don't mean that you'd do this—anything that wasn't right?" he said. "I wouldn't want 't' get mixed up in no scrape, 'y' know."

"You mean that you think more of your skin than you do of Harris's coin. Well, there's no accounting for tastes, but as for doing anything wrong—you ought to know me better than that. It will be clean and above board—no violence if it can be helped, but if Harris is unfortunate nobody's to blame for that. Of course, if you're afraid to take a sportsman's chance for a half of forty thousand dollars, call the off. I've got lots of other business to try."

"You don't understand," said Riles. "I ain't a'wared, but I don't want 't' do nothing 't' get us into trouble. Harris is an old neighbour 'o' mine an'—"

"I understand perfectly. You wouldn't mind a piece of Harris's money served on a platter and wrapped in tissue paper, but you want somebody else to take the chances. Now, there won't be any chances to speak of, but what there are you take your share. If that's a bargain it's a bargain, and if it isn't we'll talk about the weather. What d'you say?"

"It's a bargain," said Riles, "provided your plan'll work out."

"It's got to work out. It's like going up in a balloon—if it doesn't work out it's all off with the engineer. You wouldn't mind a piece of Harris's money served on a platter and wrapped in tissue paper, but you want somebody else to take the chances. Theo. Baker Says It Beats Anything He's Ever Seen In His Life

"The way Tanlac has helped me is one of the greatest surprises of my life," said Theo. L. Baker, 405 Qu'Appelle Ave., Winnipeg, Man.

"My health was bad for two years. I had a terrible case of stomach trouble and could hardly eat and digest anything. My food hurt me so bad I often thought I just time I was in misery and distress on account of gas on my stomach, which bloated me up tight as a drum. I was nervous and restless at night, and always seemed to be tired and worn out. "Well, I was getting pretty weak when I got Tanlac, but it wasn't long until I was feeling better. Six bottles of Tanlac have made me feel like a brand new man. My stomach is in the best of shape, nothing I eat hurts me and I've gained several pounds in weight. All my lost strength has returned, I sleep like a log and feel good all the time. Tanlac is certainly the best medicine I ever saw or heard of."

Tanlac is sold by leading druggists everywhere.

There are nearly 600 sulphur mines on the island of Sicily.

The purchase of seventy-three head of high class Holstein cows was made in Ontario last week on behalf of the Alberta Department of Agriculture. On arriving, these will be located at the home for mental defectives at Morningside.

When queried about the purchase, Hon Geo Hoadley, Minister of Agriculture, said it was necessary to acquire the best supply of milk obtainable for the treatment of the mental patients at the home, and the fine type of cows obtained in the East would assure this supply.

In reply to reports of criticism of the department for not buying milk cows in Alberta, Mr. Hoadley said it would be impossible to purchase in the province this number of cows, of the quality obtained in the east, for persons owning such animals would not part with them at the reasonable price paid for the herd in Ontario.

Alberta Oats Win Honors.

At the International Hay and Grain Show in Chicago last week, Alberta swept the cards with her displays, winning 13 prizes out of the 25 awarded in the open classes as well as the Grand Championship against all comers.

This very enviable record puts the Sunny Province in a class by herself, so far as oat production is concerned—having for two years in succession captured the highest honors.

The Grand Championship was captured by J. W. Lucas, of Cayley, with Victory oats which was originally obtained from the College of Agriculture, University of Alberta.

The awards in the open classes won by Alberta are: 1st, 2d, 3d, 4th, 5th, 6th, 7th, 8th, 11th, 14th, 15th, 16th and 17th.

It is worthy of note that all of the prizes were won by farmers who are members of the Alberta Crop Improvement Ass'n.

Machinery at the University.

A collection of farm machinery including practically all of the different types of machines used in Alberta, is on display in the building of the Dept. of Agriculture Engineering, University of Alberta. This display is one of the best of its kind in the province. While the machinery has been obtained principally for the students taking the agricultural engineering course, visits from interested farmers are welcomed. Prof. J. M. Smith, head of the department, is ready to discuss the merits of the different types for different purposes with farmers, and give whatever assistance he can in overcoming any difficulties that they may have in this line.

A New Invention.

A new farm implement for packing and rolling the soil will be manufactured in Stony Plain. Two Alberta farmers of the Trochu District has contracted to Armbruster & Hennig the manufacturing and selling agency of this patented Land Packer. The inventors have tried this thing for several years, and have the highest recommendation of several farmers of the Trochu District, and the firm at Stony Plain built one last week, and it was shown how it works, and the farmers seem to be very interested in the same. We wish the undertakers the very best success.

Another Little Angel

A young gentleman weighing about 7 pounds arrived in Lethbridge, early last Sunday morning and will make his headquarters at Wesley Parsonage with Rev. W.E. and Mrs. MacNiven. Edmonton Bulletin.

Regarding Estrays.

Those farmers who have estrays on their places and wish to get rid of them, will note the following, a part of a letter received Saturday by the local Stock Inspector, who had reported several cases of stray stock to the Live Stock Commissioner, and had asked that notices of these estrays be published in the Alberta Gazette:

"As the finders (of the estrays) reside within Municipal Districts, it will be necessary that they drive the estrays to the Pound. Every Municipality is required to take care of estrays within their districts and are COMPELLED to establish pounds.

"I wish to make quite clear that no advertising in the Supplement to the Alberta Gazette can be done until notice of impoundment is received.

"PHILIP DOBBY,
"For Live Stock Commissioner."

Following is the clause in The Domestic Animals Act with reference to the matter, which says:

"In every Municipality the Council shall establish such a number of pounds and appoint such poundkeepers as may be necessary to provide reasonable facilities in all parts of the Municipality for the impounding of estrays and animals unlawfully running at large, or grazing upon unfenced lands therein."

Where the Wheat Begins.

The night cashier overheard a peculiar conversation at Beaver Crossing the other day, says the Ransom (Kan.) Record. A farmer was in the store buying some groceries.

"Want any flour?" asked the grocer.

"No, flour's too high. I can get along without it."

After a little while the grocer asked: "Sold your wheat, Bill?"

"Nope; I'm going to hang onto mine; they ain't payin' nothin' for it yet."

Happy Thought.

The editor of the Eaton (Colo.) Herald suggests to his subscribers that in order that they may keep track of the expiration of their subscriptions, they date their subscriptions on their birthdays and make it a point to always come in and pay a year's subscription on that day. He adds: "The beauty of this scheme is that you are bound to live another year—no man ever died who had his subscription paid up. Nine times out of ten when a man dies he owes the editor for subscription."

A Birthday Party.

A merry party of about 30 young people from Brightbank, Inga and Comet gathered at a surprise party on Friday evening last, at the home of Mr and Mrs Ben Leeder, on the occasion of Miss Gertie Leeder's birthday.

The evening was happily spent with games, music. Refreshments were served and were much enjoyed.

A Time For Courage

There is no disguising the fact that conditions throughout the Western Provinces of Canada are not, at the present time, very encouraging and many people are faced with a difficult winter and some hardship. In this respect the Canadian Prairie Provinces are not so very different from other parts of the Dominion and other countries throughout the world. There is, however, no real reason why the people of the West should lose heart and indulge in blue ruin pessimistic talk. Such an attitude will not help, but will rather operate to further hinder a return to better times and conditions.

Present conditions in the West are bound to be of a temporary character and no country in the world is capable of more rapid recovery than the Canadian West. One misfortune and untoward occurrence after another played havoc with agricultural production and marketing this year, and while it may be hard for many families to maintain themselves this winter, their condition will be no worse, and in the vast majority of cases very much better, than the early pioneers of this country and of Ontario and the Western States had to bear. Yet these earlier pioneers held on, revealing a determination and courage which in due course brought its reward, and thousands of them are today enjoying wealth or a secure and comfortable livelihood. Yet they experienced harder and apparently more hopeless conditions than those with which the people of today are confronted.

The next few months call for the exercise of certain qualities by all people. First and foremost, there must be individual courage, determination and energy; the putting forth of every possible effort to meet and overcome adverse conditions; an insistent turning away from the dark side of the picture and a constant hunt for the silver lining and contemplation of all the brighter and more hopeful features of the situation. Secondly, there is need for the development of a spirit of helpfulness, even to the extent of personal sacrifice, in order that the more fortunately placed ones will rally to the assistance of the less fortunate. In a word, these more difficult times should develop a strong community spirit of helpfulness and co-operation.

While nobody ever welcomes adversity, it must be remembered that it is in that hard school that really strong men and women are developed. When everything in life moves smoothly, without any great difficulty or obstacle in the way, the individual becomes soft, loses initiative, becomes weak and lacking in character. It is the struggle to overcome, to achieve, to win, that makes real men and creates strong characters. The man who, overwhelmed by adversity, lies down, is a failure and would ultimately prove a failure even under normal and less trying conditions. But "the man who wins is the man who can smile when everything goes dead wrong." And he is the man who will triumph in the end, and in the more successful and brighter days to come will look back with grim satisfaction and a deep joy to the dark days in which he struggled and achieved, and won not only worldly success, but strength of character to meet whatever life might bring to him.

Governor-General Given Degree

Lord Byns Honored By University at Toronto

The honorary degree of doctor of laws was conferred upon Lord Byns, governor-general of Canada, by the University of Toronto. Following the ceremony, Lord Byns expressed appreciation of the honor and said that in the universities of Canada more than in any other place, were to be found all that was best and most inspiring in the rising generation.

Civilization and modern social needs, Lord Byns said, had advanced past the time when faith and a strong arm were all that was required of a man. He emphasized the importance of science and declared he believed the present horrors of war were due quite as much from the disappearance of the brain worker in control as from any other cause.

Money Not Saved

Figures Show That Americans Do Not Hoard Money

A Washington statistical report that as against $418,000,000 the country spent for the army $750,000,000 has gone on candy and chewing gum, sweaters, the discount with military expenditures, does it not?

And $834,000,000 for soda and other soft drinks and $669,000,000 for perfumery, jewelry, silk stockings and kindred luxuries have cost pit money pleasantly expended on theatres, concerts and baseball was $597,000,000. And above all, the tribute to My Lady Nicotine cost her devotees $1,151,000,000.

Doubtless these figures tend to prove something, one knows not what. They certainly show that Americans are not excessive hoarders and ought to bring a little more sense of proportion to judgmental taxpayers. It is not fair to assume that people are unduly self-indulgent. Yet it does make one dizzy to think of a billion gone up in smoke—not the smoke of the battlefields, however—New York Tribune.

Toe Walking Develops Strength

Walking on the heels is the attitude of civilized man alone. The people of the woods, who are much superior in their muscular development, all walk on the toe, as do the lower animals. Taking this suggestion, a French doctor is prescribing a course of toe walking for patients who are deficient in chest development.

THE CAUSE OF BACKACHE

Only in Rare Cases Does Backache Mean Kidney Trouble

Every muscle in the body needs constantly a supply of rich blood in proportion to the work it does. The muscles of the back are under a heavy strain and have but little rest. When the blood is thin they lack nourishment, and the result is a sensation of pain in the muscles. Some people think pain in the back means kidney trouble, but the best medical authorities agree that backache seldom or never has anything to do with the kidneys. Organic kidney disease may have almost no outward critical point without developing a pain in the back. This being the case, pain in the back should always lead the sufferer to look to the condition of his blood. It will be found that the most cause of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to build up the blood will stop the sensation of pain in the back muscles of the back. How much better it is to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for the blood than to give way to unreasonable alarm about your kidneys. If you suspect your kidneys, any doctor can make tests in ten minutes that will set your fears at rest, or tell you the worst. But in any event to be perfectly healthy you must keep the blood in good condition, and for this purpose no other medicine can equal Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

You can get these pills through any dealer in medicine, or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Children Cry for Fletcher's

Fletcher's Castoria is strictly a remedy for Infants and Children. Foods are specially prepared for babies, but baby's medicine is even more essential for Baby. Remedies primarily prepared for grown-ups are not interchangeable. It was the need of a remedy for the common ailments of Infants and Children that brought Castoria before the public after years of research, and no claim has been made for it that its use for over 30 years has not proven.

What is CASTORIA?

Castoria is a harmless substitute for Castor Oil, Paregoric, Drops and Soothing Syrup. It is pleasant. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other narcotic substance. Its age is its guarantee. For more than thirty years it has been in constant use for the relief of Constipation, Flatulency, Wind Colic and Diarrhoea; allaying Feverishness arising therefrom, and by regulating the Stomach and Bowels, aids the assimilation of Food; giving healthy and natural sleep. Making a Speech

A Scottish minister was once asked how long he would require to prepare a speech. "That depends," he said, "upon how much time I am to occupy in its delivery. If I am to speak for a quarter of an hour I should like a week to prepare; if I am to speak for half an hour, three days will do; if I am to go on as long as I like, I am ready now."—Belfast Weekly News.

"Action by Congress within a year," has become the slogan of the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence Tidewater Association, the parent body of those who are working for the improvement of the St. Lawrence River, so as to admit ocean-going commerce to the Great Lakes.

A contract for a floating drydock at Vancouver has been awarded to the Burrard Drydock Company of that city, according to the Ottawa Citizen. The company is to receive an annual subsidy of 4 per cent. on $250,000 for a period of 35 years, or approximately $112,000 per year, the paper stated.

THIS WOMAN'S RECOVERY

Shows Remarkable Restorative Power of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Cheyley, Ont.—"Before using Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I was a total wreck. I had terrible pains in my sides and was irregular. Finally I got so weak I could not go up stairs without stopping to rest half way up the steps. I tried two doctors but they did me no good. I saw your medicine advertised in the newspapers and thought I would give it a trial. I took four bottles of the Vegetable Compound and was restored to health. I am married, am the mother of two children, and do all my housework, milk eight cows, and do a hired man's work and enjoy the best of health. I also found Vegetable Compound a great help for my weak back before my babies were born. I recommend it to all my friends who are in need of medicine, and you may print this letter if you wish."

Mrs. HENRY JANKS, R. R. No. 4, Cheyley, Ontario.

It hardly seems possible that there is a woman in this country who will continue to suffer without giving Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial, after all the evidence that is continually being published, proving beyond contradiction that this grand old medicine has relieved more suffering among women than any other medicine in the world.

Success Or Failure

Things Worth While Require Time and Hard Work

He is usually considered a failure who attempts something and does not succeed.

But on considering the subject, does it not seem fair to include among the ranks of the failures those who obtain the privileges of success without performing the duties which they should be the reward?

Too many, in these get-rich-quick days, demand immediate success, easy success. The past teaches us that what is to easily obtained is prized but little if at all, and also that the things worth while are not won in a minute nor by feeble effort.

Do you desire the privileges of success? Perform faithfully its duties.

Do you desire the pleasures of achievement? You must suffer its pains.

Would you gather the fruits of success? You must perform the labor of planting and tending.—By Jack Mills.

LINIMENTS WON'T RELIEVE PAIN BETWEEN THE EYES

That pain is not rheumatism or neuralgia. Many folks think so—it is due to Catarrh, plain ordinary Catarrh, and needs attention right now. Catarrh is the name of a wonderful invention that is daily fixing up chronic cases of weak throat, bronchitis and catarrh. Every breath through the inhaler is laden with soothing, healing substances that destroy all diseased conditions in the breathing organs. It can't fail to help, because it goes where the trouble really exists—and doesn't attempt to cure an illness in the head or throat by means of medicine taken into the stomach. There is no sufferer from a "croup" cold or any winter ill that won't find benefit in Catarrhosis, which is employed by Physicians, ministers, lawyers and public men throughout many foreign lands. Large size lasts two months and costs $1.00. Small size 50c, sample size 25c, all storekeepers or the Catarrhosis Co., Montreal.

Why Not?

Direct Wireless From Australia to England

Premier Hughes Has Announced Details of Proposed Scheme

Premier Wm. Hughes has submitted to the Australian House of Representatives the details of the proposed direct wireless scheme between Australia and the United Kingdom, according to a cable from Reuter's Melbourne correspondent. The commonwealth and the Amalgamated Wireless Company will jointly become responsible for financing the scheme, the premier stated, and the commonwealth will secure the controlling interest.

The commonwealth and Amalgamated Company will forthwith construct high-power station to carry a direct commercial service between Australia, the United Kingdom and Canada, according to the agreement. The main trunk stations are to be erected within two years. The rates generally will be two-thirds of the existing cable charges.

Premier Hughes, in submitting the scheme to the house, added that it was an alternative to the link scheme submitted at the Imperial Conference. The cable message added that there is little doubt that the proposed agreement will be accepted by the Australian Government.

New Use For Warships

One Serves As Fish-Drying Factory at Port Etienne

M. Albert Sarraut, French Minister for the Colonies, who is now at the Washington Conference, may be able, if consulted, to give useful hints as to what to do with the old battleships. Just before he sailed for America he made a tour of the French West African colonies, and at Port Etienne he visited former French cruiser Chasse-Loup, which now surely serves a useful purpose. Riding at anchor in the bay, it serves as a fish-drying factory. On its decks sixty tons of fish can be dried at one time. Port Etienne is the centre of a steadily growing dried fish industry and to the Chasse-Loup and fishing boats bring the cargoes to be cured and dried.

What Dairy Farming Means.

Dairy farming means a safe, sure farming, instead of one-crop gambling; dairy, instead of yearly harvests; monthly cream checks instead of once-a-year settlements; a constant enrichment of farmlands, and a permanent prosperity.

It is Wisconsin's largest primary source of wealth, creating annually an output worth twice that of all the iron mines and timber operations.

That State knows no crop failures. Its prosperity is almost legend.

The same can be accomplished in this province.

Wisconsin has more than 85,000 silos, 11,000 of which were built in 1920.

Interest yourself this winter in silos and ensilage. Mr Moyer, of the Atlas Lumber, will be glad to help you.

The Chauffeur's Lament.

I now recall, with deep dejection, the accident of yesterday; it happened at the intersection of Banking road and Hayseed way.

Had I gone slowly, as my pastor has urged me to, a thousand times, there would have been no fierce disaster to swell the list of auto crimes.

But I was sending my tin Lizzie a gait no Lizzie ought to know, and I alas, was far too busy to scan the landscape, to and fro.

And so that hiss of Hiram Hornor's came scorching to me all unseen, and we collided at the corners, and rolled in burning gasoline.

Am full of tin and grease and gravel, and as I sit here, sick and dour, I swear that I will never travel at more than seven miles an hour.

Of course, I blame the other fellow, and he should be pinched and tried; it is a habit, rather yellow, wherever motorists abide.

And Hiram sits in silence solemn and knows not I am telling fibs;
the surgeons wired his spinal column, and put new washers on his ribs.

The two poor Lizzies are so mangled, so void of a dividing line, the Timmith says that he'll be jiggled if he can tell me which is mine.

Britain's Safest Policy Is Making Investments Within The Empire

London.—Winston Spencer Churchill, colonial secretary, in a speech in London, said that Great Britain was able only to look to the east and the west her position would be unhappy, but in the great dominions she had outlets for her energy with objects deserving financial support, and with great potentialities for development.

Before British investors cast money upon strange shores let them, he said, be quite sure there was not in the British Empire a more certain means of securing swift and certain returns. In future they would need to draw more from imperial resources and as the years passed this process would conduce to the greater strengthening of the British position. They were well advised to regard themselves confidently on the board security of the Empire. If that failed there would be little use in any part of the world. If it stood, the money invested in the great overseas dominions would return bringing with it means for future enterprise. If they had patience, courage and wisdom, the dark days would pass and they would live to see the dawn of another era as splendid, peaceful and prosperous as that in which their fathers and grandfathers were fortunate enough to live.

Teachers Resent Treatment

Many Canadians Receiving Minimum Allowance in English Schools
London, Ont.—Formal complaint regarding the treatment accorded Canadian teachers in England has been made to the Department of Education in Toronto, according to a letter received here from one of the teachers now in London, England. Many of the 77 delegates are receiving but the minimum allowance of approximately $75 per month, while one former principal of a large Toronto school is declared to be teaching kindergarten classes.

Flagship to Visit B.C.

Ottawa.—Vice-Admiral Sir William G. Pakenham, commander-in-chief of the North American and West India station, will visit British Columbia in his flagship, the Raleigh. The ship will be in Esquimalt from December 16 to December 27, and in Vancouver from December 27 to January 9.

DO YOU SMOKE TOO MUCH?

There are many men on whose heart and nervous system tobacco produces the most serious results. It causes palpitation, pain in the heart, irregularity of its beat, makes the hands tremble, sets the nerves on edge, causes shortness of breath and loss of sleep.

To counteract this demoralizing influence on the heart and nerves there is no remedy so equal

MILBURN'S HEART AND NERVE PILLS

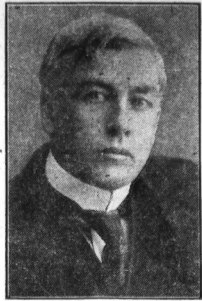

They make the heart beat strong and steady, restore tone and vigor to the nerves, and remove all the evil results caused by the tobacco.

Mr. Frank Luter, 71 Terrace Hill St., Bradford, Ont., writes: "I had been troubled with palpitation of the heart for a number of years, and by spells it would bother me a lot. The doctor told me it would stop on me sometime if I did not cut out tobacco. When I would get a spell my heart would pound, and I would break out in a perspiration, and get so weak I would have to sit right down and quit my work; also in the night I would wake up and my heart would be going. I should say about 120 beats a minute. About three years ago I got a box of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, took them, and found that they did the job. I am feeling fine and have gained over 20 pounds in weight."

Price, six a box at all dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

Millions Damage In New England Storm

Difficulties of Electric and Telephone Companies Unprecedented

Boston, Mass.—Under the first sunshine in four days, New England began to thaw out and to slough the icy burden left by successive storms. The shedding process had left the damage, running into millions of dollars. In the case of the electric and telephone companies, it was announced their difficulties were unprecedented.

Lord Mount Stephen Dies In England

Was First, President of Canadian Pacific Railway London.—Lord Mount Stephen died peacefully at Brock Hall, Hatfield, Hertfordshire.

He had been an absolute recluse for many years. He died of sheer old age, painlessly.

A remarkable old man and multi-millionaire, cousin and associate of the late Lord Strathcona. He stayed in a small way in Canadian trading.

Montreal.—As a mark of respect to the late Lord Mount Stephen, his first president, all flags on Canadian Pacific Railway offices, depots, etc., were placed at half mast.

"Cascarets" If Sick Biliary, Headache From the Bowels

Get a 10-cent box now. You men and women who can't get feeling right—who have headache, coated tongue, bad taste and foul breath, dizziness, can't sleep, are bilious, nervous and upset, bothered with sick, gassy, disordered stomach, or have a bad cold. "Are you keeping your bowels clean with Cascarets, or merely forcing a passage every few days with salts, cathartic pills or clyster oil?" Cascarets work while you sleep; cleanse the stomach of sour, fermenting food and foul gases; take the excess bile from liver and carry out of the system all the constipated poison in the bowels. A Cascaret, physio-night, will straighten you out by morning.

Teacher Fined For Flogging Scholar

Boy Was Excessively Punished For Telling Untruth

Hamilton, Ont.—Because Miss F. Cuthbert, a school teacher, strapped Sydney Painting, a pupil in her class, she was fined $10 and costs in police court. The magistrate said that the punishment administered was "a barbarous way of assaulting a boy and never should be used."

"One or two strokes would have been sufficient," said the magistrate, "and I find that the boy has been excessively punished."

The boy testified that the teacher struck him 15 times for telling an untruth.

Sweepstakes Captured By Grain Grown From Saskatchewan Samples

Portuguese Threatened By Bolshevism

Spreading Through Large Towns and Conditions Are Serious

London.—The powers are considering intervention in Portugal and the assumption of a mandate there to quell the "ugly wave of Bolshevism" which is sweeping that country, the Times declares. France, Italy and Spain, it says, favor such a move. Former upheavals in Portugal arose from the rivalry of political parties, but Bolshevism is now spreading through the large towns, the Times declares, and there have been many outrages, especially in the Province of Alentejo.

The recent bombing of the United States consulate in Lisbon was an incident in this movement, it is said, and most of the foreign diplomats there have received letters threatening their lives.

When a number of foreign warships moored in the Tagus River at Lisbon recently, the sailors on a Portuguese gunboat are said to have been restrained only with difficulty from attempting to torpedo the Spanish vessels.

Despatches to the Times assert that the condition of the country is such that it has been very difficult to find men willing to accept posts in the cabinet.

Steamer Makes Official Trip
Victoria.—The new C.P.R. steamer, Princess Louise, built by the Wallace Shipyards, North Vancouver, has made her official trip.

The special requirements of 16 knuts called for by the contract stipulations, were more than satisfied at all stages. On three trials the vessel averaged 16.2, 16.9 and 17 knots.

Chicago.—Canadian honors did not suffer in the judging arena at the International Livestock Exposition when the Clydesdale were exhibited, but the Dominion lost a coveted championship in the grain and hay, show when the wheat sweepstakes went to a Montana farmer after the crown of champion wheat grower. Lloyd rested on the head of J. C. Mitchell, of Da- hind a well-known Saskatchewan grain grower, for two years.

Wee Donald, a Clydesdale stallion of seven years of age, exhibited by C. A. Weaver, of Regina, won the stallion championship, and First Principal, entered by the Manitoba Department of Agriculture, was the reserve senior champion. The two Canadian horses were in perfect condition for the fight in the arena, and had little trouble in besting the other senior stallions for the honors. Several bairs and many other prizes were conferred upon Canadian horses in the various classes during the day.

Canada's only comfort in the loss of the wheat growing championship to George Kraft, of Bozeman, Mont., is that Mr. Kraft's wheat was grown from samples secured from Dr. Scar Wheeler, of Saskatchewan, the Canadian wheat wizard, and Dr. Wheeler is certain to share in the honor of producing such a marvellous brand of improved Marquis. Mr. Mitchell's wheat weighed 54.7 pounds to the bushel, while Kraft's wheat was but 63.5 pounds, but Mitchell's was duller in color and the kernels smaller. Mr. Mitchell was the champion in 1913 and 1920 and was given the secondary honors this year.
